PUBLISHED BY THE JUNIOR CLASS

MANHATTANVILLE COLLEGE OF THE

SACRED HEART · NEW YORK, N. Y. 1944

IF, by Aladdin's lamp, we should suddenly transport the Faculty en masse to the most remote spot mentioned in Far East class, Manhattanville would not remain on the hill on Convent Avenue, but would be with them. For it is their philosophy, their knowledge and their manner of its communication that is truly Manhattanville. Those sudden quizzes, two thousand word papers and "three more chapters by next Monday" are all for a purpose. By these, our success is their success and our failure is our own. We look up to the Faculty yet we all walk side by side. We learn from them and we like them. For their guidance and inspiration, we are very grateful.

MANHATTANVILLE has included more in our schedules than study. Actually, our committees, clubs and councils are a sort of organized escape from the tyranny of classes. They are work but a change of pace in work. The murmur of voices in the Assembly Hall, the slap of a paint brush on a wet flat in the Little Theatre, the oddly glowing melodies of the chant, the clean crack of a hockey stick and ball, and the many identifying sounds at one-ten and five and seven-fifteen evidence the turn of students to those activities which interest them in a special way. These are an important phase of our college life for there is opportunity here, and talent and achievement.

Student Government

ALTHOUGH at heart they really would not have it otherwise, there are times when Student Government must deplore the fact that man was born a "social animal." Theirs is a Jekyll and Hyde existence. Though never quite the average campusite, they live in a human, humorous imitation of her until it is time for "those who wish to check in for demerits —" or the eight-thirty bell. Then because we saw in them the look of a leader and elected accordingly, they become apart; become Student Government. Theirs is the supreme art of the tactful "we," the preference for suggestion rather than demand. We like that subtlety of command, and it works. Perhaps it works also because we like Student Government, whose members we can forget to call leader because we're so busy calling them friend.

Welfare

THE Welfare Committee is a group of delegates representing the student body and the faculty in equal proportion, whose aim is to control the extra-curricular activities of the college and to determine collegiate standards in matters of taste and social intercourse. It is the committee notorious for that certain well-known device, the persistent "social censure." It is one of the reasons why moccasins do not appear at dinner, and spectators do — why even pre-war gum is, paradoxically enough, more advantageous in its wrapper than out. It is not the iron-dynasty of a few budding Emily Posts, Jr., but the consensus of the college opinion of what we want Manhattan-ville to be, a place where the best is never too good and anything less is never quite good enough.

Children of Mary

"Just a little bit more." That one phrase sums up the attitude of the Children of Mary — just a little more time at meditation in spite of moonlight mornings or pouring rain, just a little more effort to arrive at the beads for peace. It is that especially warming smile, or that extra "Need some help?" that makes the difference; that willingness to go more than half way to discover what is on the other side. But at the root of it all, it is that driving desire to give the "over and above" to God—not long-faced asceticism but love, pure and simple, of all that God has given us to do; a love which expresses itself above all in prayer, united with the rest of the Children of Mary from the gates of Manhattanville, around the world, and back up Convent Avenue again.

Brownson Honor Society

Since its establishment in 1940, we, "the Uninvited," have gazed in reverence at the members of the Brownson Honor Society, and dared only to whisper their names. Yet, as we become Juniors and Seniors, our own best friends join that select body and we realize that they are human after all. The paragons of perfection are not members; they are too busy being perfect. But the girls who are vitally alive in mind and spirit are elected. They are intellectually stimulating yet we have all gone to a horror movie with them; they show promise of continuing intellectual interests in the future yet we have also seen them concerned over the future of a new red gabardine suit. In Orestes Brownson we observe a "logical mind at work." In the members of the Honor Society, we see modern logical minds, discussing anything from contemporary scholastic thought to the best yarn for socks.

Catholic Action Council

"THE participation of the laity in the work of the hierarchy" is the definition of Catholic Action. Therefore almost any action can be Catholic and Manhattanville has made it so. Nurse's Aide, Basketball, Cooking, and posters have become as integral a part as Catechism classes, Girl Scouts, and the Inter-racial and Liturgical Committees. Those long subway rides to Barat have become interwoven in our minds with the monthly forums and the N.F.C.C.S. Carmen and Father Carrabine stand out against a background of speakers.

We won the National Inter-racial Commission at the Chicago meeting of the N.F.C.C.S. and are determined to "plant the seed that will grow into a tree of justice," educating people out of a prejudice.

Proudest of all is our boast that at Manhattanville every girl is a Catholic Actioner, participating to the best of her ability in the work of the hierarchy.

Missionary Association

The Missionary Association is moral encouragement and material support for many missionaries. The activities behind this support are feverish and varied: the monthly dues, the New York gathering to pack Christmas baskets, the Bridge and Fashion Show, the speakers at Assemblies, the newly born Mission News and Mother Britt's talks on the Far East. The Propogation of the Faith, kept before us by dozens of ingenious methods, has become and will always remain a living thing at Manhattanville.

Defense Council

Organized in a minute-man manner before Pearl Harbor, the eager, patriotic spirit of the Defense Council remains in this third year of war. Human effort extended to the limit can go only so far; aided by prayer, it can go farther, and that "farther" is the purpose of the Council. Composed of officers of war committees throughout the eollege, it meets to combine aims in an effective manner. Without war paint or even gold braid, it is a serious, capable council.

Glee Club

GLEE Club means Manhattanville to some girls as much as the Tower bell or that visit to the mailbox after breakfast. It means a few stragglers singing through the corridors around eight-thirty on Tuesday nights, and one more thing from "Oklahoma" before the practice really starts. It means singing the "Omnipotence" for Mother Dammann's Feast, and that allgone feeling in the pit of your stomach wondering if you'll come in by yourself on that funny rcst. It's Jeanmarie's smile and the premature Christmas spirits you get from practicing carols in November. It is Mother Morgan prompting "Iolanthe" from the top rung of a ladder in the wings, and giggles about the costume measurements. Glee Club is singing your heart out in a group doing the same because you like to do it and it is fun that way.

Dramatic Association

EVERYONE knows the story of Hamlet and the "something rotten in Denmark," but this is the story of the 1944 Dramatic Club "behind the scenes." As a matter of fact, there were only imaginary scenes until almost dress rehearsal! Have you ever tried resting your foot on a mythical step?

There were certain Twentieth Century difficulties, such as the King's thesis, and Ophelia's nurse's aide, although the Sixteenth Century flavor persisted and was responsible for such remarks as "Art going to supper?" Then there was Mother Bourneuf wondering out loud whether Hamlet was going to say "eether" or "eyther," having just said both in one speech, and Ginny Bradford frantically handing spears to the stage crew and hustling them out as extras. They finally arrived, the play went on, and became with the first term's "School for Scandal," another of those successes we don't believe can keep happening, but do.

Debating Club

A TYPICAL Tuesday night in the conference room would find Helen Gray presiding with quiet charm, Mother Tenney nodding assent, and Sally Cassidy or Marcella Weston firing questions at a fellow member. Throughout the year formal debates have alternated with informal discussions of current interest, offering opportunity in prepared and extemporaneous speaking. A round-table discussion attended by the college, was conducted in November on the topic, "U. S. among the United Nations" followed in March by a similar presentation of the question of "The Long Armistice." The Alumnae and Public Debates in May climaxed the year's activity.

Spectators at our public debates are often amused at the sight of an attractive girl, pushing twenty, attempting to solve the problems of a supremely complicated world. We have laughed a little ourselves at our own earnestness, but we take ourselves seriously, and who, now or in the future, will solve them, if not the educated Catholic. The purpose of the Debating Club is to teach us to think of these things and to express our opinions intelligently and articulately.

Choir

"Music that gentlier on the spirit lies Than tired eyelids upon tired eyes."

WE doubt if Tennyson had us in mind when he wrote this, but we can feel a certain sympathy with him just the same. However, the Choir is not only early risings nor the culinary delight of the annual Tea. People aren't in it for the ordeal of dragging themselves out of bed, or even for the pleasure of a feast. It isn't that that brings them. Perhaps it is the fact that corporately they are lending vocal and never-ending praise to God through the timeless medium of music, or perhaps it is just that they are Catholics and it makes them want to sing.

English Club

LATE Thursday afternoons in the lounge where sunlight and little puffs of blue smoke gave the room an enchanted quality; hours spent in Pius X Hall writing and rehearsing for Mother Dammann's Feast, ending with all in caps and gowns at the feet of the symbolic figure of Mother Church; the autumn party with oak leaves, candlelight, coffee and the Evangeline satire; the progressive novel; and finally our unit festivals, sum up a year of the literary comradeship that is the English Club.

The Tower

THE TOWER is for the seniors. The Junior Class has tried to give them a picture of the college to take with them when they go.

We believe that the heart of Manhattanville is best expressed in the little things. Daily Mass, class games, K.P., lecture nights and the talk in the Tea House are as much a part of us as classes and clubs. "Looking Up" as our theme first symbolizes the counsel of Mother Dammann to look up to the truth and second the new mood of this war year of 1944. This theme has permeated our campus existence and it will follow the seniors into the world.

To bring this Tower of our ideas into being we sat on the floor of Mother Sullivan's office to write write-ups; we ran down to the bank at 125th Street and Broadway between lunch and our one-thirty class; we escorted the photographers everywhere on the campus from the pool to the physics lab; we vehemently discussed the relative sizes of type-writers; and we heard the rumbling of deadlines in our sleep. Thus by councils and compositions, by typings and sketches, by accounting and candids we present the Tower — the college as it has always been, as it specifically is now — for the Seniors to remember.

Junior Financial Committee

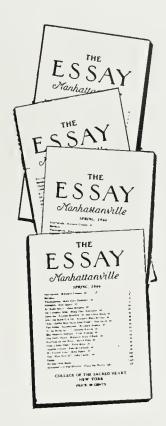

AT least one part of the college understands Morgenthau's predicament and sympathizes with Roosevelt's efforts to balance the budget. The Junior Financial Committee knows now that money doesn't grow on trees; theirs is the magic of hard work. In the future big business may appreciate their executive ability and knowledge of money and banking. No doubt too a few husbands will brag that their wives know what a budget is. Financing the building of a Tower is not easy but they have done it well.

Freshman Financial Committee

"ANY contracts, Gerry?" was the byword at those weekly meetings. Authorities on the art of persuasion, these enthusiastic ad-men vied to outdo each other and the ads came rolling in. Fathers, uncles, and friends-of-the-family were coaxed into advertising or at least inserting "the compliments of a friend" and so the honor roll outside Mother Morgan's Office was filled. The figures in black and white are proof that there never was such a sister-class.

The Essay

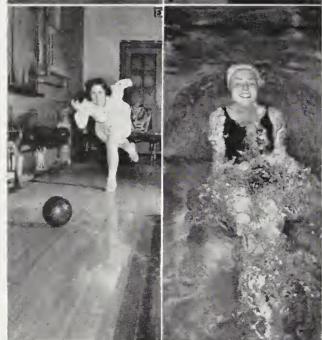

SINCE the war, the publication of Manhattanville's literary magazine has been curtailed to one issue, so for the second year an Essay staff has enjoyed only half the fun and suffered only half the headaches of former board members. Nevertheless, McCorm and Company received the usual avalanche of last minute contributions, read with great pleasure the offerings of the literary lights of the college, and engaged in frequent pow-wows in Mother Williams' office or the editor's room to discuss the relative merits of poems, essays and short stories. Even while being photographed for the Tower the Board talked business. The climax of Essay-editing was, of course, the final frenzy of rewriting, retyping, and copyreading. Three nights before printer's deadline, all the typewriters on the third floor of Founder's were pressed into service and Sully's big double room resounded with the pounding of "hunt and peck" typists. When published, those famous little, yellow slips were tickets to enjoyment and re-enjoyment in hours of reading.

THE LOVE and loyalty of each Manhattanvillian for her class is a family feeling that begins at that magic moment when hazing ends. When the Sophomores run forward to encircle the new Freshmen, they stand a class. The mutual feeling grows through the Daisy Chain and Serenades of Sophomore year, in the play and prophecies of Junior year, in the last parties and activities as Seniors. The class song, class games, those wonderful songs at dinner are an expression of an intangible something that is class comradeship. Manhattanville is what it is because it is built on the class system embodying an inter-class spirit, a love for a sister class and above all, the desire to be worthy of a tradition.

FRESHMAN SONG

Mark time '47 singing, break forth with every voice. On the heights we will find forever the college of our choice. Her spirit leads us onward as those who have gone before, One hundred years it's lasted and shall for hundreds more.

Freshman Class History

THIS is the centenary class. They'll not live it down and they do not want to. They have, as a group, the facility for doing the extra, gracious thing — such as cheering for sister-class teams and serving cokes at tired dress rehearsals. They boast among their number, cadet nurses who, guided by Mother Williams, have added a new note to the campus. Theirs was the typical "moving chairs" year that is the Freshman lot, but they have made it fun. They stopped getting lost in Arcadia and gradually shed the protection of their Junior sisters. The "fungi freshminonus," having survived hazing, has grown and flourished on the campus. Mother Morgan helped them find their voices and fame in the "Waltz Dream" which had the college singing and asking those "who's she" questions that Freshmen doings inspire. The class of 1947 is really Manhattanville and welcome.

SOPHOMORE SONG

It's the loyalty of spirit,
The unity of heart,
The one for all, the all for one
That makes us each a part
Of Manhattanville! Manhattanville!
Our lips will spread your fame!
And the class of '46 will never
Ever forget your name!
And the class of '46 will never
Ever forget your name!

Sophomore Class History

THE CLASS of 1946 is not the Sophomore class of fiction; they have never heard of the Sophomore slump. They are friendly and fun. They love their sister class and have chosen the Juniors as friends. Above all, they have continued to tend their Victory gardens, not letting the Frosh fungi wilt and die after the first enthusiasm of planting. They have entered wholly into college activities, winning the basketball cup and becoming indispensable to the clubs. They spent their noon times from March on in the Assembly Hall practicing the words and melodies of their serenades. They are the most tested class Manhattanville has ever known. It is hard being Sophomores for there are no more Freshman allowances. It is nice being Sophomores because though firmly established, there are still two full years ahead. This class with their "unity of spirit" has climbed from "moron heights," of hazing week high up to a Tower and they will stay there,

Junior Class History

AT LAST we were upper classmen, moving nearer the front rows in assembly, nearer the door in the refectory. We met our Freshmen sisters in September and escorted them through the intricacies of registration. We found ourselves thinking how old and beautiful they looked and laughingly told of being mistaken for Freshmen. We became officers of various organizations and frightened the student body out of their many wits with "The Bat." Our classes moved to Founders and we were drowned with delight in our majors and minors. We met the Dean at ease over thesis topics, found her charming and love her more than ever. We cheered our elections to the Brownson Honor Society, gave advice on Serenades, and got tangled in the Tower and Senior prophecies. We are beginning to wish we were not quite so far along, but we are looking forward to being Seniors. It won't be long now.

"DON'T FORGET, Cuc, write. I couldn't forget you if we never wrote, but a letter can be almost as good as a real talk. Golly, I wonder if we will ever have bull sessions like the ones after Politics, and will we find girls again that we will love being with as much as we have with the ones in the class? We're all so different that sometimes I wonder what it is that makes us stick together. Here you are going back to Havana; I'll probably still be in Brooklyn, and yet I don't think there'll ever be a time that I won't feel close to you and all the rest. It'll be fun though, won't it, telling our daughters to look each other up when they get to Manhattan-ville?"

Senior Class History

THE AVERAGE SENIOR is an individualist, different in temperment, outlook and actions from her classmates. Yet under a common denominator that is "of Manhattanville" she represents with them a united class. She loves to laugh, gets the movie urge during exams and is intensely practical under pressure. Secretly she gets a thrill out of the school song and is proud of her class song which she helped write Freshman year. She knows her way on the subway and she knows the shops, restaurants, and art galleries. She is interested in racial problems and the missions, adores Father Keller, and works at Casita Maria, the Barat settlement or the Parish school. She asks questions at debates, is outspoken in her opinions and is a sentimentalist. In her room is a picture of her fiance, husband, or just "Dad." She does not talk about him. She does talk about philosophy, the drama, current events, nurse's aide and the future; any future. She probably wept at serenades. She may not be famous but she will have her great moments. And there will be times when she will stop to remember what Manhattanville gave her of friendship, loyalty. and love — and it will be in her life always. God will have it so.

Senior Song

Shoulder we to shoulder stand,
Tending each a helping hand;
Swelling from our loyal throng
Is a never ending song.
Let every heart and will
Cheer for Manhattanville
We, the Class of '44
Pledge to her a little more
Of joy, and love, and gallant praise,
As we walk steadfast in her ways.

College Song

On the heights so proudly standing
Strong against the blue,
High towers gleam commanding,
Loyal hearts beat true!
For Manhattanville sing proudly,
Swell the mighty song:

Jean is poised and unexcitable, with the unexpected habit of laughing in subways. She is contradictory hots and colds; a cool debator, a passionate champion of the missions. Her efficiency is in her definiteness of purpose and her clear low voice is its agent. With comic blankness she was dean of Hazers, and sometimes we think she is always laughing with a deep, clean sparkle inside.

JANE P. DUFFY, E. de M.

21 East 82nd Street, New York, New York Convent of the Sacred Heart, 91st Street, New York, New York

Perhaps it's Jane's perennial sun-tan which makes her outstanding, or the verve with which she wears those famous matching hat-and-coat sets, but we are inclined to think it is just Jane herself. We like her companionable humor, her brilliant smile, her calm manner and her generosity with herself and her possessions.

ALICE DUNN, E. de M.

11 Primrose Street, Roslindale, Massachusetts Girls' Latin School, Boston, Massachusetts

Curly headed, laughing Alice, who loaned us her intricate knitting directions, is a simple statement of a wonderful personality. The six thousand men at M.I.T. last summer knew her for her charm; only the professors knew of her A's. We have missed Alice since she left in September, especially on the Boston train.

JEAN ELLIS, E. de M.

184 Clifton Street, Belmont, Massachusetts Convent of the Sacred Heart, Noroton, Connecticut

Jean is strikingly unusual: as casual as a polo coat, as dignified as the Statue of Liberty. She loves the theatre, favors Keats, Rupert Brooke and an occasional mystery story. Gentlewoman Jean harbors a love of the movies in the middle of the week and breakfast in the Tea House. We like the content of her Welfare announcements, the story of the Yale boy, and her full laughter.

MARY CLARE FAULHABER

National Arts Club, 15 Gramercy Park, New York, New York Saint Walbunga's Academy

Mary Clare has a magic pen or she's just magic herself. A passionate love of the ocean inspired a thesis of lyrical sea poems. She says they usually come to her in the middle of the night and isn't it lucky she's a day-hop? A definite individualist, going her own way quietly, now it's safe to say — she loved eating apples in class.

Ruth, of the arresting dusky good looks, the college-plus wardrobe and the cosmopolitan smartness is contagiously light hearted. Her nonchalant and carefree gestures are disarming and typical. Music and dancing stir her heart; social studies her mind. She's straightforward and generous, refreshingly real and somehow the dashing type.

Marcia is sugar and spice and nice. To the point, and the point not long escapes her, she is the source of learned economic discussions and stage whispers in the back of classrooms, of violent, independent theories on art, and Romeo the cocker. In her youthful freshness and spontaneity there is a nautical something, salt-clean and tangy and refreshing.

BARBARA McVOY, E. de M.

619 Stratford Place, Chicago, Illinois Sheridan Road, Chicago, Illinois

Barb exercises indisputable leadership by her understanding and frank simplicity. She not only volunteers for jobs, she gets them done. Athletic, she plays a good game of basketball with boyish grace. She is casual and light hearted with character plus. School spirit, loyalty and laughter are happily mixed in Barb.

KATHLEEN NORTON, E. de M.

58 Kensington Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey St. Aloysius Academy, Jersey City, New Jersey

There is a certain combination of efficiency, finesse and fun that makes a Norton at Manhattan-ville. This is Kay, who adds her own directness, sweetness and serenity to the family formula. She is Chairman of the War Committee, noted for her firm, low voice, her knitting and her New Jersey patriotism. Chic, demure, with dancing humor, she is Kay, our redhead whom we cannot help loving.

RUTH NURRE, E. de M.

5902 Ventnor Avenue, Ventnor, New Jersey Georgetown Visitation Convent, Washington, D. C.

A talented pianist, Bootie loves the classics, particularly Bach's preludes and fuges, but is also a master-mind on modern music, preferring things a la Duke Ellington. She is in real life what Ingrid Bergman and Joan Fontaine are on the screen: always a perfect lady, blessed with tact, composure and gentle reserve. There's a luminous quality about her, delicate, quiet and beautiful.

CATHARINE O'BRIEN

70 Larchmont Avenue, Larchmont, New York Convent of the Sacred Heart, Noroton, Connecticut

Katie is greatly concerned over the fate of the world, but would settle any world question in three definite minutes, just for the asking. She is intently attentive to conversation and retorts with brisk humor. Business-like and generous, hard-living and hard-loving, she has a special affection for Saint Pat — for isn't she Irish and a Katie at that?

META O'CONNELL, E. de M.

155 Kilsyth Road, Brookline, Massachusetts Jeanne d'Arc, Milton, Massachusetts

Dark-eyed Meta would have a hard time disguising her nationality. A more typical colleen would be hard to find even in the old country. An air of captive humor lurks about her, ready to escape at the slightest provocation. Sympathy and understanding pad a shoulder that has welcomed many a tale of woe. The sight of "Meeter" (pronounced with a Boston accent) calm, casual, happy-go-lucky, is a sure sign of fun a-coming.

BARBARA LOUISE O'CONNOR, E. de M.

Barbara takes life as it comes and never looks backward. She is a Culbertson addict and indulges anywhere she can get three other people and a flat surface. Kath has a round, little-boy face framed in red curls. She is sporty and spirited; a hockey varsity regular. Her one disappointment was the line she didn't get to say in the "Carmelites." She is enthusiastic, and full of surprises, one of which is her Spanish major which only Kath could couple with that Irish temperament so charmingly.

Cards to Pat are fifty-two daily companions and a grand slam is an old acquaintance. She's vulnerable when it comes to horseback riding and dancing, and knitting is a trump in her life — the answer to leisure. With the possible exception of that "time to wake up" moment in the early morning, Pat is friendly, full of life and fun.

GRACE O'NEIL

1290 West Exchange Street, Akron, Ohio Convent of the Sacred Heart, Grosse Pointe, Michigan

Remember the year-book legend, "See you in the gym next year"? Many an afternoon we have seen our "Mid-westerner," plus coke, pouring over a calculus book there, or playing an apparently careless game of bridge, punctuated with flurries of easy wit. She of the secret smile ranges from a classical interest in Latin to an up-to-date devotion as a nurse's aide. We hope we can still, occasionally at least, "see her in the gym next year."

Virginia was seen parading across the stage in the French play in a long steeple headdress. Actually, she is far from a fifteenth century girl, although she can be as French as the Eiffel Tower itself. V. D. to her friends, pleasant, a leading singer in the Glee Club, she loves a good time, can usually find one, and is serious when need be.
